Thomas Ellis Peters, was born March 17, 1814, at New Castle, Kentucky, and died June 15, 1889. He married at Greensburg, Indiana, in 1845, Margaret M. Preston, born February 29, 1816, at Georgetown, Ohio. They moved to Albia, Monroe County, Iowa, in the Spring of 1857. Both are buried in the Albia Cemetery.

Thomas E. Peters was Justice of the Peace in Albia, for thirty-six years, and City Mayor for twenty years. He performed the marriage rites for one thousand couples. He knew both Daniel Webster and Henry Clay in the State of Kentucky, during his youth. When a lad of fourteen years he was attending a Kentucky horse race. Unconsciously as a boy he said - "I'll bet ten dollars on that horse." One of the men of the betting ring replied- "I'll take you up." The lad was embarrassed and did not know what to say, as he hadn't a cent and did not intend to bet. He said Dan Webster looked at him with big black eyes and said, "Ha - Ha - " He was a strong Abolitionist and Whig. When the family came to Albia, both the Court House and Jail were old log buildings. School was held in the old frame Methodist Church, which was about the best building in town.

BASKETT, CASH, HARNED

FAMILIES

Rev. William Baskett was born in Goochland County, Virginia, October, 1741. Having descended from parents who were poor, and not being favored with the means of education, but little is known of him until his twentieth year, about which time he was married to Miss Mary Pace, who was also a native of Goochland County. In this, his only matrimonial connection, he was blessed with thirteen children, eight sons and five daughters.

From his earliest years he had been impressed with ideas of the value and necessity of religion; had regularly attended public worship; and had ever received, as he advanced in age, the Lord's Supper. After his marriage he established in his family morning and evening service, in which he read prayers. This he did for seven years, while yet he had not, as he afterwards discovered, known or felt the nature and effects of gospel truth.

About this period his neighborhood began to be visited by Baptist preachers. Of them and their doctrines, numerous and different reports were in circulation. The first of these, an opportunity to hear whom presented itself, was Rev. Corbley. He went, moved partly by curiosity and partly with a desire to be profited. This was the first preacher not of the established church that he had ever heard. On his return home at a late hour he found Mrs. Baskett waiting patiently to be informed concerning the new preacher and his tenets, of which he gave a description before he received any refreshments. Soon afterwards they both had an opportunity of hearing Rev. Corbley, and of seeing him administer the ordinance of baptism. The minds of both became now so much concerned, that Mr. Baskett, to use his own words, "Was scarcely able to follow his plow;" and when he returned from the field he frequently found his wife engaged in prayer.

While filled with anxiety as to what they should do to be saved, they walked on a dark and rainy night three miles to hear a preacher of the established church. Mr. Baskett asked the preacher if there was such a thing to be entertained as a hope of personal interest in the merits of Christ; a knowledge of acceptance with God? The preacher replied, that for his part, he felt a comfortable hope while he kept the commandments, and at no other time. The continued distress and further inquiries of Mr. and Mrs. Baskett subjected them to the charge on the part of the preacher of being deranged. The circumstances under which he obtained comfort are found in the following extract from a letter written by himself before his death:-

"In childhood and youth, I often promised God I would serve Him, if spared to be a man. From my marriage, in my twentieth, until my twenty-seventh year, I attended scrupulously to secret and public prayer and worship, and to the ordinance of the supper. But now, I saw myself a guilty undone sinner; and, during eight months, was without comfort. At length, one night at midnight, on my bended knees, imploring -Divine mercy through Christ, and throwing myself at the disposal of sovereign grace, my mind was turned to the words, "He that trusts in the Lord shall never be confounded." I saw that God was, in Christ, reconciling the world unto Himself, not imputing their trespasses unto them". For several days my heart was filled with joy. Since, my life has been a constant warfare. I am sensible of much remaining imperfection, but cannot fear death or judgment. The judge is himself my friend. Nor do I Apprehend destruction by my spiritual foes or my trials. It is God who worketh in us both to will and to do. I six troubles he is with us, and doth not forsake us in the seventh. If we pass through waters, they cannot overflow us; if through fires, they cannot burn us. I believe all this in my heart. If my conduct does not agree with this, place no confidence in me or in what I say. My desire is to glorify God through the remainder of my life. "The tree is best known by its fruits." Please to send me an account of your own religious experience."

Nor long afterwards Mr. and Mrs. Baskett were baptised, together with two other neighbors, by Elder Elijah Craig. These first Baptists of that vicinity frequently visited each other for conversation and social prayer. Mr. Baskett thought himself far inferior to the rest of this company in this scriptural knowledge; but they always urged him forward, and he was soon employed in the exhortation of his neighbors, who attended these meetings for the purpose of hearing. Others made the profession of faith under his labors, and in the year 1774 a church was constituted, called Lisle, consisting of eighteen male members and thirty-two female members. This church was served by Elder Webber as pastor, until 1787, under whose ministry, in the course of two years many souls were added. In the toils of this revival Mr. Baskett shared largely, and 1789 he was ordained to the work of an evangelist. Five years afterwards Elder Webber removed to Kentucky, when Elder Baskett was called to the pastoral office.

From this time until the year 1815, he was blessed in his family and church. His faithfulness and zeal as a pastor, and all his conduct in his domestic affairs, were exemplary. He lived to see all his children married and settled, and himself possessed of extensive property which had gradually increased upon his hands.

On the 21st of April his aged consort, after a few days indisposition, fell asleep in death. The next Sabbath he preached his last, and those present said his best sermon, from the words "We have no continuing city, but seek one to come." On the 30th of the same month, his own tranquil spirit escaped this state of trial, and went to the enjoyment of rest. In his illness he consented to receive medical aid, he said, to merely gratify his friends. He knew he was about to depart, and found his soul supported by the consolations of the gospel, and cheered and sustained by the gracious promises.

The removal of these two faithful servants was commemorated on the 24th of June ensuing, by Elders Furrington and Hiter. Elder Hiter preached from Phil. 1-21: "For me to live, is Christ; to die is gain." Elder Purrington from 2 Kings 2-12: "My Father, my Father, the chariot of Israel, and the horsemen thereof." The large concourse which assembled, and the feelings they manifested, bespoke the excellence of those pious souls, and the high veneration and affection with which they were regarded. "The memory of the just is blessed."

"Talking of old home-scenes, Opden Graeff
Teased the low backlog with his shodden staff
Till the red embers broke into a laugh
And dance of flame, as if they fain would cheer
The rugged face, - half tender - half austere -
Touched with the pathos of a homesick tear."

In the Council of the Menonite Church at Dordrecht, April 21, 1632, one of the two delegates from Krefelt (or Crefeld) was Herman Opden Graeff, born Nov. 26, 1583, at Alderkerke, a village near the border of Holland. He moved to Krefelt and married a Menonite girl, Grietjen Pletjes Driessen. He died Dec. 27, 1642. Their four children came to Pennsylvania at the request of Pastorius and at Rotterdam, on their way, the colony bought 2,000 acres of land in Pennsylvania.

Tradition says the family was French-German, but the name is rather Dutch. Their names were Abraham, Dirck, Hermann and Margaretha Opden Graeff, or Up den Graeff, Up de Graeff (each brother signs it differently at different times)

They are often referred to as "Dirck Isaacs", "Abram Isaacs", etc. They were Mennonites and linen weavers. Abram being the most skillful.

A Meeting House was built in 1686 and before 1692 all of the original 13 had joined the Quakers. In a "Controversy of Geo. Keith" states "Dirck adhered to the Friends; the other did not, Abram was fined for abusing the bailiff with injurious words."

Abram was elected a Member of the Pennsylvania Assembly in the years 1689 -90-92. Dirck died May, 1697, leaving no children. Hermann died in Sept. 1704, in Kent County, Delaware. Abram moved to Perkimon in 1704. He gave his daughter and her husband, Thos. Hone (tailor) 300 acres of land. Abram's children were, - Margaret, Isaac, Jacob and Anne (wife of Hermanin de Hoffen)

In 1688 the first protest against slavery was made by Germantown Friends and Dirck Up de Graeff bore it to the Monthly Meeting held at Richard Worrell's. It was signed by Dirck Up de Graeff, Abraham Up de Graeff and two others. Those who bear the name are not numerous. It is variously written "Updegraff", "Updegrave", "Updegrove", et cetera.

GILL FAMILY

JOSEPH GILL emigrated from England with Lord Baltimore and settled on Kent Island, Maryland, his son Joseph GILL, JR., born 1753, died 1845, emigrated from Maryland to Shepherdstown, Va., from there moved to near Bunker Hill. There married NANCY HANNA, (daughter of William Hanna) and settled on Back Creek where he commenced to build a mill, got the mill about completed when a flood came and washed it away. He then traded his farm for a store in Winchester, Va.; in 1806 he removed from Virginia to Mt. Pleasant, Ohio, paying $700, per 100 lbs for having his goods transported over the mountains. At that time he brought seven wagon loads of goods. His family consisted of his wife, father, mother, Uncle John Gill and 5 slaves' children, the older slaves having been liberated before leaving Maryland; the slaves were inherited from an aunt; never sold any and never exacted a days work of them after they became of age. Upon arrival at Mt. Pleasant, purchased Section 17 and commenced clearing it up. Also started a store and carried on the merchandise business, farming, and stock raising. Introduced a flock of Merino sheep, which were the first ever brought into the township.

In 1816 he started the old Mt. Pleasant Bank of which he was president during the entire period of its useful existence.

He also built a mill and purchased another one of John McCurdy 3 miles up Short Creek and these mills were very successful for 25 years, shipping flour in large quantities in flatboats to New Orleans; generally one of his sons, John or James Hanna, would occupy these flatboats as supercargo, - also handled and cured large quantities of pork, selling it in the form of bacon, and grazed, slaughtered and sold hundreds of beeves in what is now Ottawa County, Ohio. The Indians traded at the store and at that time Mt. Pleasant was one of the principal points of trade and its merchants bought the wheat and flour of the country as far back as Guernsey, and Tuscarawas Counties. In the war of 1812, as the army passed through Mt. Pleasant, they were in need of clothing and tents and they took a thousand or more yards of cloth suitable for their purpose (this ancestor of Jas. Gill Updegraff making possible membership in Sons of the American Revolution, No. 13163, dated March 3, 1914, engraved badge No. 23446) - was a quaker and said his religious principles were opposed to war, but if they needed his goods they could take them and never would accept payment from the Government. John W. Gill, a son, started the raising of silk worms in 1835 and the manufacture of silk into beautiful fabrics. He made and presented to HENRY CLAY, the great commoner, a full suit of silk clothes, he also furnished the great tragedian, EDWIN FOREST, his stage suit, knot work. In 1841 the Government, through the instrumentality of MR. CLAY, ordered a very large silk flag, which was furnished to the Government on the 4th day of March, 1841. It was taken to China by CALER CUSHING, newly appointed MINISTER, and was the FIRST AMERICAN FLAG THAT EVER FLOATED FROM AN AMERICAN EMBASSY in that strange and far off land: the silk factory was later removed to Wheeling, W. Va. Children were,- John Wallace, William Scott, Nancy and Sarah and

JAMES HANNA GILL, born 1831, died 1889, married MARY ANN PARKER, (see Parker Family) (niece and adopted daughter of Isaac Parker. Two children, Nannie (KIRK) and Mary Phoebe (UPDEGRAFF) (see Updegraff Family).

Was president in 1879 of the First National Bank of Mt. Pleasant and also was connected with the branch of the State Bank of Ohio at Mt. Pleasant, serving as President, member of the Board of Directors and Control. Principal business was farming, milling and operating in western farm lands of Iowa, Wisconsin and Minnesota. Was the first to introduce in his community the horse rake, mowing machine and portable hay derrick, which he invented and obtained letters patent for.

Josiah Updegraff, married Eliza Jane Wood. Six children:-

Josiah Updegraff was born at Mt. Pleasant, Ohio, Dec. 14, 1810 and died at Sigourney, Iowa, Aug. 4, 1881, at the home of his daughter, Hannah U. Johnston. He is buried in the Indianapolis Cemetery about five miles west of What Cheer, Iowa. He was married, April 6, 1836, to Eliza Jane Wood, daughter of Joshua Wood and Esther Scott Wood, of Smithfield, Ohio. She was born April 15, 1817 and died March 10, 1837. She was buried in the Friends Burying Ground at Short Creek Meeting House, near Mt. Pleasant, Ohio. The Parents of Eliza Jane Wood opposed her marriage to Josiah Updegraff. The marriage occurring out of the Quaker Church they lost their birth-right thereto. However, according to letters in the possession of Rosa Updegraff Henninger, a grand-daughter, a reconciliation was effected between parents and children.

His proposal of marriage in his own hand-writing, addressed to Miss E. J. Wood, Mt. Pleasant, Ohio, most fittingly shows his devotion and it reads as follows:-

Mount Pleasant, Ohio.

Aug. 1, 1834

To her I love

The time has nearly come to hand when I'll be obliged to leave Mount Pleasant for some weeks, that thee is already aware of. My wish is to have with thee a meeting sometime previous to my leaving and that more private than any we have had yet or likely to have at these places we've generally met, and if there can be any convenient way provided so we could get together entirely alone, it would be very much more satisfactory to me, as it is a subject that interests nobody but us alone.

Now to effect my object, I can't yet contrive any way, for I am perfectly aware of thy situation, and the restriction that laid on thee by thy mistress, which I hope will not be the case. I just leave it to thee for to make some provision, if it can be done without causing any dissatisfaction in away or other amongst us.

And should thee provide some way, I would be glad, if thee would furnish me with a note giving some of the particulars. I will try to see thee in a Day or two.

Respecting the Letter that was written when I was away, I presume thee did not get it. When I was conversant with thee on the subject thee seemed to express some doubt whether I had written at all. I hope that thee has a better opinion of me than that comes to. If not, there:s not much hope of us coming together any more close than we are now, I'd be very sorry that either of us should entertain any doubts with either of us concerning the integrity of one another. I can ashure thee all that I have manifested to thee in any shape of form is all reality.

Now let us have each others company and confer on the verry subject and converse on it freely and remove all doubt. I am as we said before, thine if thee'l be mine.

And from Well Dear Girl

J.U.-ff.

Enclosed in the letter, was a small piece of paper with the following written on it:- For E.J. WOOD-

"Whilst perusing one of the late papers I chanced to fall on a piece of composition I thought was well adopted to my situation at present and from the first acquaintance I made with thee.

"I love thee, I love thee"- and oft in the wild wood

I muse on thy charms while I wander alone

And thy gentle spirit

That s

That peace should inherit

The wild throb of passion perchance had not known

Thy life has been pure as the gay dreams of childhood

Ere grief its dark mantle around has thrown.

"I love thee, I love thee", and time cannot banish

Thy long cherished image of beauty from me;

Time can not erase it,
Nor absence efface it;
Enshrined in remembrance it ever shall be,
Thro sunshine and shade till life's last ray shall vanish
This heart shall love on but will love only thee".

and it so exactly expressed my sentiments that I thought it would go further in showing thee plainly what true love I have for thee than any long string of words in a letter I possibly write.

As I have so frankly given thee my heart I trust thee will be backward in giving me thy sentiments. At all events let them be on what side of the question they may, I am forever thy sincere wished

J.U.

Enclosed in the above, on a small piece of paper is the following:-

"I have long wished to tell thee and indeed have made several attempts to do it personally, but always found fruitless for fear I might be denied, and I hope if I am it may be done in a manner that it may not be known by any person or persons else, but kept an entire secret between ourselves, and if I am permitted to pay my addresses to one that I dearly love, I am thine forever. J.H.

Please let me know between now and fifth day morning as business calls me away for a few days and before I go I am anxious to know my doom, let it be good or bad news, I hope the former. If suits thee as well call down at W.--- on fourth day evening when I'll meet thee. Then my anxious cares will be ended. Don't think I am jesting for cincerity is mine." The original letter is now in possession of Mrs. Rosa May Updegraff Heninger, Sigourney, Iowa. She found it among a pack of letters given to her by the heirs of Hannah Updegraff Johnston, daughter of Josiah Updegraff.

TALES OF THE REVOLUTION

By William Champlin

The following as dictated by William Champlin, when he was an old man, to his son-in-law, James Udall.

About the commencement of the Revolutionary War, The British ship, Rose, commanded by Captain Wallace, came to Stonington Point and began firing upon the village. My father, then a Colonel of the Regiment of Militia assembled his troops and marched to the Point to prevent the British from landing. I accompanied my father. By a well directed fire from behind the buildings, fences and rocks we succeeded in preventing them from landing.

The women and children all fled from the Point and went to my father's house where they remained the succeeding night and consequently the fire of the British did not do as much harm or damage as it might have done. One man was wounded and one cow was killed.

Soon after this a small fort or battery was built at Stonington Point, which I assisted in building, and I was afterwards stationed there for three months under the command of Capt. John Belcher who was then a Captain of the Militia in that place and I was a soldier in the said militia. I was then taken from the Point and stationed at Groton Fort, under the command of Capt, Peleg Noyes, where I remained until I was ordered to the New London Fort and was stationed there three months under the command of Capt. Belcher, again.

After my term of service was up, I returned to my father. Soon after this I enlisted in the service of the State of Rhode Island under the command of Capt. Andrew Stauton, for the term of fifteen months to guard the coasts and harbors. While on our march to the coast we stopped at East Beenwich where a recruiting officer was stationed and I then and there enlisted as a sergeant into the Continental service for the term of three years under the command of Capt. Elijah Lewis. We were then marched on to the Coventry to General Green's farm and were inoculated with the smallpox, where we remained until cured of the disease.

We were then marched to New Jersey and joined Washington's army. After remaining at New Jersey a short time we marched to the banks of the Delaware river near Philadelphia, where we repaired the Fort at that place, then under the command of Colonel Christopher Green. While stationed there the Fort was attacked by the British Hessians and troops under the command of Lord Howe. The fort was gallantly defended and the enemy driven back. While defending the fort my gun was driven out of my hands by a ball from the enemy which passed so near me that I felt the heat. My Captain who stood near me had his fingers shot off. Thirty-one were killed in the fort and it was said that seventeen hundred of the enemy were killed and wounded. Mud Island Fort which is opposite Red Bank was beseiged while we were stationed at Red Bank and we assisted in defending it. We crossed the river for that purpose.

I was stationed at Mud Island Fort a part of the time during the seige. The enemy by bringing a large ship to bear upon the fort and attacking it at the same time with their land forces gave them such a decided advantage, that it appeared useless to defend it any longer. We therefore abandoned it in the night leaving our colors flying. The fort being vacated by the Yankees, the British troops succeeded in taking it Nov. 15th, 1778. We also abandoned the Bank Fort, leaving a train and a man to blow it up. The explosion took place soon after we left the fort. The night was extremely cold for that season of the year and we suffered much from cold during the night, but we continued our march to Valley Forge where we made preparations for Winter Quarters, the British then having possession of Philadelphia.

While at Valley Forge we built a bridge across the Scuykill and planted out cannon in a direction to defend the crossing of the bridge, that in case we should retreat we would cross the bridge and by the aid of our cannon could prevent the British from crossing or annoy them so much that they could not attempt it. We also built huts and made ourselves as comfortable as the circumstances would permit. Three rows of huts were built about half a mile apart and at the head of the center row was Washington's headquarters. Lady Washington, accompanied by the wives of some of the officers came there and spent the winter.

While in the State of Pennsylvania we heard of an old Tory who had been providing the British with stores and provisions. Our army, then almost destitute of provisions, stood in great need of this and an officer was selected to go and take it. Volunteers were called for and I immediately turned out for one. On our march thither we had to cross a stream although the weather was very cold. We forded the stream up to our waistbands and at our arrival at the house we found the doors barred and our admittance refused. Our officers demanded entrance and threatened to break down the door unless we could have admittance.

While standing at the door my wet clothes froze stiff upon me but at last the door opened and we went in and found the provisions that were as aforesaid. We were ordered to fill our packs with pork, which we did. While returning on our march I was taken sick and unable to proceed. A soldier was left to take care of me until a wagon was sent from the army, in which I was conveyed to the hospital or hut. Many soldiers for want of suitable provisions or clothing were placed in this miserable hut, or hospital as it was called, with me where we suffered more than I am able to describe. I was sick of a fever for a long time and my hair was long and thick, but came out. After my recovery I again joined the army. We remained at Valley Forge watching the movements of the British until June when we received news that the British had left Philadelphia, and had been one day on their march for South Amboy where they expected to take shipping. Washington immediately gave orders to pursue them and our army was accordingly marched with all possible haste on the pursuit. While on our march we found that the British had taken up all the bridges and had felled trees across the road to retard our march. We however overhauled them at Monmouth where the memorable Monmouth battle was fought. The weather was extremely warm and we

Washington commanded the right wing of the army and General Lee the left, but in consequence of General Lee disobeying orders the British army was not captured at that time as it otherwise would have been had Lee obeyed orders. Lee was afterwards tried by court-martial for his disobedience. My situation in the army during the battle was in the right wing commanded by General Washington. The British made their retreat and got on board their ships at South Amboy.

After the battle at Monmouth we were marched from place to place and what transpired I do not distinctly recollect, but in the fall of the year we were halted upon a hill and were entirely destitute of provisions for three days. The hill afterwards was called Hungry Hill, and the Commissary whose duty it was to provide for us, was afterwards punished for his neglect.

Our army was marched from New Jersey to Rhode Island upon Sullivan's expedition and we had a battle with the British. Previous to this, many of our sentries were killed while on duty. I was frequently stationed where I considered my life in more danger than in open battle, but the British retired from the conflict, and we again marched on our return to New Jersey and prepared for Winter Quarters at Morristown where we wintered. My health at that time was good. I do not recollect of anything that took place worthy of note, save that we were often short of provisions and our rations were often small, and frequently quite small. A detachment was sent to Staten Island where they took a number of horses and some provisions and blankets from the enemy and returned to headquarters.

I am not at this time able to recollect dates, shall therefore notice promiscuously some particular events which occurred in which I took an active part so that a more perfect account of my service and suffering be given while in the army of the United States.

While our army was at Peeksville on the Hudson river I was sick with the distemper which prevailed to an alarming degree. The hospital where I lay was filled with the sick, many dying daily. What made our situation more distressing and the disease more fatal was the want of suitable and skillful nurses. An old drunken Irishman and his wife were the only nurses that could be procured and they spent more time in quarreling and drinking than in taking care of the sick, and as soon as the breath left the body, and sometimes before, they would rifle the pockets after money with which to buy whiskey. My sickness was considered incurable, and the doctor told my friend that I could not live until morning. In this, however he was mistaken for after a long and distressing disease, I began to recover and to finally regain my health to such a degree that in two months I was able to return to my duties in the army. While in Rhode Island on Sullivan's expedition, the British then having possession of the Island, our troops advanced so near them that we were obliged to take our sentry from duty during the day and place them on guard again in the night. While there one of our drummers deserted and fled to the British as he supposed and related all the information of our army, but to his surprise he only reached our advance guard and was telling his story to one of our own officers. He was immediately arrested, tried by court-martial and hung on the spot. While our army was marched three times around him so that everyone might see and learn the fate of a traitor and a deserter.

While at Red Bank, two times a black man and a white one were hung for piloting the British army across from Philadelphia to our fort at Red Bank. By order of Colonel Green, they were tried by court-martial and condemned and hung; they were the first persons I ever saw hung. The Dead March was played with muffled drums and other instruments producing a mournful sound which I will never forget.

While at Red Bank the British built a battery on Mud Island from which they were throwing bombs and playing upon Mud Island Fort. Two companies of Volunteers were called from Red Bank to cross the river and assist in taking the battery. I immediately volunteered for one, and we crossed the river and commenced an attack upon the battery and fired three rounds upon them. The British army then at a short distance from the place sent reinforcements to their assistance and we were obliged to retreat across the river to our own fort on Red Bank. Two men of our force were wounded, one in the hand very severely.

Shortly after landing upon Rhode Island in Sullivan's expedition, we experienced the most severe storm of wind and rain that ever I felt, the wind blowing a gale. Our tents were all blown down and we were literally drenched with rain. After the storm was over and we had dried our clothes, we proceeded on our march.

While in New Jersey near Morristown, our army suffered much for want of provisions to satisfy the cravings of nature. The soldiers would often resort to theft; at one time they stole a cow belonging to a widow. After driving it in a byplace in the bushes they killed her and secreted the meat in their tents, after having cut it from yhe carcass with knives. Search was made for the cow and her carcass found. complaint was made to the officers. The soldiers were all paraded and search made for the meat, and it was found se- creted in their tents. A punishment for theft awaited them. Washington, then at headquarters nearby heard of the fact and immediately countermanded the order for punishment, saying that his men should not be punished for theft which hunger obliged them to commit. He then paid the widow enough money to buy her two cows.

I received Continental Money for my services in the army and saved it, thinking to buy me a farm, but the money all died or became nearly worthless in my hands, so that my loss was nearly the amount of all my services.

Soon after I left the army I saw an advertisement in a New London paper for able bodied men to man the sloop Hancock for a privateering excursion; I immediately volunteered, signed the articles of agreement and soon after set sail for a cruise, but it returned without taking any prize. We soon after set sail again, the second time, and while out captured and took a brig loaded with wine. I returned to her; my share of the prize was one pipe and a half which I sold to my brother, Christopher, then a merchant in Newport.

I next went out in the Oliver Cromwell commanded by Capt. Buddington. While out we captured and took a brig loaded with shocks of staves and some articles of small value. I next went out on the board of the Minerva, and was Capt. of Marines. While out we captured and took from the British the Hibernia, a valuable prize, and sent her in to New London. We also captured and took from the British the brig, Hannah, which was considered the richest prize taken during the war, and sent her also to New London; and as Captain aforesaid, I was entitled to my share of the prize and was offered for my share in the ship a good farm worth two thousand dollars, but refused the offer, being confident they were worth much more, but before a division of shares was made in both of said prizes, that infamous rascal of a traitor, Benedict Arrolld arrived, came into New London, burned the town and also the prizes aforesaid and the storehouses containing the prize goods. I thereby lost all my property and I verily believe that my loss at that time could not have been less than from three to four thousand dollars, for which I never received one farthing.

I again sailed in the sloop Spitfire, commanded by Capt. Thompson, and while out gave chase to a British galley and drove her into Fire Island, an inlet of Long Island, and while on the chase we pursued her with such speed that the water flew over us so much that it wet our guns so that it was difficult to fire them. I had command of two guns one of which I forced the priming wire through the wet powder and reprimed her. I then took aim and fired, which was the only gun fired, and the only one necessary, as the ball from my gun cut the rudder entirely off and disabled her so much that she immediately struck her colors and we took her, and for this exploit of mine, I received the captured Captain's gun.

While at Red Bank Fort we were daily expecting an attack from the enemy. To prevent their approach and to retard it as much as possible, General Green ordered an orchard to be cut down and the trees hauled butt forward towards the fort and the tops trimmed so as to make a picket difficult to march through or remove. One afternoon we received information that the enemy had commenced their march to attack the fort. We accordingly made preparations to receive them, but when they first came in sight, their formidable appearance was augmented by the bright rays of the sun, then about an hour high, shining upon their bright brass plated caps which made them appear like men of superior height and strength. An officer bearing a flag of truce advanced, saying that if we surrendered we should be treated like prisoners of war, but if we did not, every man should be put to the sword. General Green answered that he had orders from General Washington to keep that Fort, and he would keep it as long as he had one living man by his side.

The flag returned and the enemy at once commenced their attack and fought till dark when they were repulsed with great slaughter. We fired forty-eight rounds and my gun was so hot that it almost blistered my hands to hold it. The enemy retreated leaving their dead and wounded on the ground.

William Champlin never finished the foregoing account of his services in the Revolutionary War. This copy was made from the original paper in possession of his daughter, Mary Noyes Castle, and is now in the hands of her son, Erastus Castle. Mrs. Castle stated that her father was of tall stature and of sturdy build and was sometime during the war, one of General Washington's body guards.

Mary M. Eade(nce Mary Castle), Bristol, Wisconsin, has in her possession a clipping from a paper which is:-

"Edgar R. Champlin of Cambridge, is to be tendered

CHANDLER FAMILY

It takes us back to about 1588-9, when in or near London, England, a son was born to John and Jane (Gitten) Chandler of St. Margaret Moysea. They gave him the name of Edmond; a good education; and apparently abundant means. He married and his children:- Samuel, born May 16, 1611; Sarah, born Oct. 9, 1613; Anna 1617; and Mary 1619; were born in England.

About the year 1625, or a little later, he went with his young family to Barbadoes in the West Indies and engaged in the sugar business. Here he remained for about 8 years. Some time in 1632-3 he came to Plymouth with his son, Samuel, who was then about 21. He seems at that time to have left his wife and three daughters in Barbadoes, perhaps only intending a visit to the new colony.

However, Edmond Chandler became at once interested and took an active part in affairs, buying and selling land, built a house, owned cattle, etc. etc. He received a grant of forty acres, afterwards changed to another of sixty acres in the part of Duxbury known as Island Creek. Here he built his house. Here he lived and here he died in 1662 and was buried on the home place.

Honors came to him thick and fast. He was on the list of freeman when Plymouth was incorporated. In 1636-7 he was a constable of the colony. In 1639 Edmond Chandler and Jonathan Brewster were the first to represent Duxbury as Deputies at the General Court, and again in 1643-5 Edmond Chandler and John Alden were deputies of the town. In the Plymouth "Book of Records" it was written that "The Cattle of Edmond Chandler be marked by a slit cut in the neather side of the left ear under the ears". In 1643 he took the oath of fidelity and was declared able to bear arms. He was then about 55 years old. He was one of the original proprietors of the town of Bridgewater incorporated in 1845. He had an apprentice as early as 1638, John Edwards, who came to him Jan. 1, of that year for five years. At that time he called himself a yeoman. He was a blacksmith by trade. He had real estate transactions in various parts of the town. He owned land on the east side of Moysea Symonson, when Morris formerly began to clear for a Mr. Bowman, and in 1650 had property in Scituate. In 1644 he was buying books of Jonathan Brewster. In 1637 "the court ordered the 500 acres lying between Eel River and the South River to be divided and Jno. Brewster and Edmond Chandler were chosen on the part of Duxberry to agree upon an equal course for the division." "Edmond Chandler, one of the committee to view a suitable place for a meeting house" Edmond Chandler, one of a trial-jury of 12. Bought land of John Barnes which he sold to Isaac Robinson which said Isaac sold to Joseph Biddle for 6 pounds sterling -half a lot. 1643-5 at the General Court Committee for Duxbury, William Basset and Edmond Chandler appointed by court."

One has said:"That Edmond Chardler was a man of more than average intelligence", of high honor and integrity, of sagacity and keen business ability is evidenced by the high position he took at once upon joining the Plymouth Colony.

The names of his children would indicate that he and his wife were deeply religious. He had two sons and a daughter born in Duxbury:- Joseph, Benjamin and Ruth. His seven children were amply provided for in his will dated May 3, 1662. He was then about 74 years old. The Will was witnesses by John Alden and Constant Southworth, and was proved at Plymouth June 4, 1662. The bequests are the following:-

"I, Edmond Chaldder being old in body yet in good nad perfect memory, do make and Ordain this to be my last Will and Testament-----Unto my son Samuel Chaundeler my whole share of land that is at the place or places called---Akoaksett and Cushena-----

"Unto my sons Benjamin Chaundeler-----all that tract or trackes of land lying in Duxborough both upland and meddow with all the housing belonging thereunto, only he is not to enter upon possession thereof till the terms of six years be ended;

"UNto my sons Joseph Chaundeler----my only share of the land which now lyieth by Tauton River near unto a place Comonly known by the falls with all my further Interest belonging thereunto.

"Unto my three daughters Sarah, Anna and Mary three thousand and five hundred of sugar which belongs to me at Barbadoes.

"Unto my three children viz. Benjamin, Joseph and Ruth Chaundeler the last four yeares Rent Due to me from my son Samuel Chaundeler for my land and Cattle; equally to be Divided amongst them and for the first two years Rent I Reserve it for myself and to Dispose of as I shall see good.

"That stock of Cattle of mine which is in my son Samuel's hand shall after the term of six yeares which he took them for bee equally Divided between my three children Benjamin, Joseph and Ruth.

"My son Joseph Chaundeler to be sole exequitor."

It is said that he died the last of May, only about three weeks later. His wife is not mentioned and she probably was not living. His three daughters, it is thought, remained in Barbadoes looking after the sugar plantation, perhaps had married there. A Dr. H. B. Chandler of Newton was born at Barbadoes and it is stated that his ancestor John went from Plymouth to Barbadoes to assist his aunts in the care of their sugar plantations and eventually succeeded to their estates.

Edmond Chandler's son Benjamin married Elizabeth Buck, daughter of Cornet John Buck of Scituate. Their children were born in Scituate where they lived for a time. They were:- Martha, Samuel, John, Mary, Ketura; also had Joseph and Elizabeth and Benjamin, eight in all.

Benjamin's estate was settled Mar. 16, 1691. His widow Elizabeth (Buck) made her will April 22, 1728. She mentioned daughters Ketura, Elizabeth, Mary; sons Samuel, Joseph, John and Benjamin. Oldest daughter, Martha Simons not mentioned, but names her children, Deborah, Isaac and Sarah Simons. Benjamin's children were all under age at the time of his death, excepting Martha. The town of Duxbury recorded the "Liberality of Mr. Benjamin Chandler who freely gave ye town liberty to build a school-house upon his land near ye sd Rhoad for sd town's use to be set near ue fence ect."

Edmond Chandler's third son, Joseph, married Mercy -----and had Joseph, John, Edmond; daughters Esther, Mary, Sarah. John, born June 2, 1677, by some accident lost his hand and in the town records is the following:-

"The town of Duxbury did give unto Joseph's son John, who by God's providence did loose his hand, 50 acres of land lying on the easterly side of South River and northerly side of place called the Rockes provided that his father shall have liberty to sell or otherwise improve said lands for the benefit of aforesaid child." He married Sarah Weston March 4, 1708 and died April 7, 1759. Some thought that it was this John who went to Barbadoes to help his aunts who were carrying on the sugar business there. We do not hear anything more of Edmond's youngest daughter, Ruth. She may have gone, too.

Joseph Chandler makes his will April 21, 1721, He mentions son Joseph, Grandson John, Daughters Sarah Chandler Esther glass, Mary Bradford, wife, Mercy; daughter in law Elizabeth Chandler, to whom are given money and forewood, and the use of house as long as she remained a widow, but does not mention son John. His son EDMUND, born about 1678, was a blacksmith and married ELIZABETH ALDEN, born about 1678.

The inventory of Joseph Chandler's property was dated Dec. 18, 1721. His brother Samuel, Edmond Chandler's oldest son died and inventory taken Nov. 17, 1683. Joseph was the youngest and the last of the sons of the pilgrim Edmond.

We now drop back to early history of the Alden Family.

John Alden, born probably in England 1599, died Sept. 12, 1687 at Duxbury, Mass. One of the Historical Founders of Plymouth Plantation. Deputy to Plymouth General Court 1641-49; one of Council of War 1646-53-58-67. Treasurer 1656-59; Assistant 1632-33-34-40-50-56. He had a son Jonathan.

Jonathan Alden born at Duxbury, Mass. 1627, died at Duxbury Feb. 14, 1697, and the house he built is still standing, is kept in good repair and often visited. The writer, Lucy Porter Higgins, spent a very happy hour there in the summer of 1914. He was Ensign June 1, 1658, Lieut. Oct. 28, 1681; Capt. Oct. 2, 1689 to his death, 1697. He married Dec. 10, 1672, Abigail Ballet, who was born in 1642 and died Aug. 17, 1722. They had a daughter, Elizabeth, who was born 1678, and died April 22, 1728 (date of will). She married, 1699, Edmond Chandler, who was born 1678 and died

Joseph Chandler married (second) Deborah Bonney, Nov. 27, 1729. They had a son Jonathan. She was the daughter of John and Elizabeth (Bishop) Bonney, born May 20, 1704. John Bonney was brother to Thomas, husband of Dorcas Sampson, daughter of Henry Sampson, who came in the Mayflower. John Bonney was the son of Thomas, then called Goodman Bonney. Elizabeth Bonney, Shoe-maker Cordwainer, came in ship Hercules from Sandwich, England. He was born in 1604, married Mary Terry(?) - second Mary Hunt when about 50 years old. John, son of Thomas Bonney, was born Feb. 25, 1664, died Nov. 16, 1745.

Joseph Chandler and Deborah Bonney Chandler lived in Penbroke until 1750. Their children born in Penbroke were:- Joseph, born Sept. 10, 1730; Abner, born Feb. 6, 1731; Betty and Benjamin, born Aug. 12, 1733; Jonathan, born Dec. 30, 1735; Deborah, born Oct. 19, 1738; Sarah, born July 12, 1742.

children were born in Cornwall, Conn. In the year 1775 they moved to Piermont, from Cornwall, Conn.

Jonathan Chandler was given a Commission as Lieutenant in a company at Cornwall, Conn. In the service of HIS MAJESTY LORD GEORGE, the third king of Great Britian, etc. May 11, 1771, by Jonathan Trumbull Esq.; Captain and Commander in Chief of His Majesty's Colony at Connecticut, given at Hartford.

(I have this Original Commission, also his Family Bible, of about the same date. E.E. Chandler, Boone, Iowa)

Jonathan Chandler was Captain of Fifth Company, 12th Regiment of Foote, Colony of New Hampshire; September 5, 1775 was Captain of a company raised at Oxford and towns adjacent and embodied in Col. Jonathan Chases regiment, which company marched to reinforce the Continental army at the Hudson River, near Stillwater, - Sept. 1777; Entry Sept. 25,; Discharged Oct. 26.

Jonathan Chandler was a giant in size and strength, being six feet, seven inches in heighth, and measuring nearly three feet from tip to tip of shoulders. Many of his feats of strength and endurance are recorded in the local history of Cornwall and Piermont.

meadows on the Conn. River, following the stream that is now called Eastmans Brook, the outlet of Tarlons Pond at the foot of the Southern White Mountains, he came to a beaver dam, built across the stream where the hills on each side came together. This dam covered a meadow of about 200 acres. Half a mile east of this dam and nearly the center of this level piece of land he stopped. Right in front of him with its base only a few feet away, was a beautiful mountain that gave the name of the town, Piermont. He said "This is the most beautiful spot on earth, here will I make my home." He set up a land mark where his house should stand.

The mountain stands about two miles east of the Conn. River. It is about 1000 feet high, a solid block of stone, forced up by some mighty convulsions of nature. It stands alone; is in no way connected with any range of mountains. Of all the beautiful mountains in New Hampshire, this is the one perfect jewel.

Jonathan Chandler built this house in 1773 where he set his stake in the small level valley directly in front of Peaked Mountain. This has been the home of the Chandlers for over 100 years, 1773 -1888, when Joshua Chandler Jr. grandson of Jonathan, came west to live with his son, Oliver Warren Chandler, living at Burlington, Wisconsin.

JAMES McELWEE CHAPTER D. A. R., SIGOURNEY, IOWA
UNVEIL MONUMENT AT GRAVE OF ACHILLES ROGERS, REVOLUTIONARY SOLDIER.

Probably the most cherished hope and loftiest aspiration of James McElwee Chapter D. A. R. was realized Sunday afternoon, April 12, when it celebrated its 15th anniversary by unveiling a boulder and Official D. A. R. Bronze Tablet, which the members had erected a few days prior at the grave of Achilles Rogers, a Revolutionary Soldier, in the Pennington cemetery three miles south of Sigourney.

The beautiful Easter day only enhanced the impressive ceremonies which were participated in by the officers: Regent, Mrs. Eugene Schipfer, Vice Regent, Mrs. H. Myers, Second Vice Regent, Mrs. J. McKay, Recording Secretary, Mrs. F. D. Snakenberg, Corresponding Secretary, Miss Lucia Elliott, Registrar, Mrs. L. Pfaff, Treasurer, Mrs. A. A. Howard, Historian, Mrs. R. F. Ashbaugh, Se Chaplain, Mrs. E. E. Willcockson, First Guard, Mrs. D. T. Stockman, Second Guard, Mrs. D. W. Shean. A large crowd came from the neighboring towns, Sigourney, Delta, Hayesville, What Cheer and Washington.

The march was formed at the entrance gate, headed by the Regent, Mrs. Eugene Schipfer, and Mrs. C. A. Speer of Washington, followed by the officers, two abreast, proceeding thence to the grave, assembling around the monument which was veiled with the American flag.

The ceremonies opened with the signing of America, followed by the invocation by Rev. B. F. Swartz. After the flag salute, Mrs. Virginia McElwee Goeldner gave a reading paying tribute to the flag, "Our Glorious Stars and Stripes", and the Star Spangled Banner was sung by all.

The Regent, Mrs. Schipfer, gave the Dedicatory address after which she very graciously presented the monument to the descendants of Achilles Rogers. Martin Singleton Jacobs, grandson, and Mrs. Goeldner, Honary Organizing Regent of James McElwee Chapter, drew aside the flaf, unveiling the beautiful monument, which stands thirty inches high. Mr. Jacobs in a most fitting speech accepted the marker, in behalf of the descendants.

Mrs. Grace Houdek, a great grand-daughter, gave the biography, and the officers then proceeded with their part of the services. Mrs. Wilson H. Hamilton, Iowa State Historian, D. A.R., gave a most impressive reading and Mrs. Speer, who is a member of the State Committee on Historic Spots, in a few well chosen remarks commended the Chapter on its splendid work. The Doxology was then sung and Rev. Schwartz pronounced the benediction, thus ending one of the most patriotic occasions in the history of Keokuk County.

The day commemorating the resurrection seemed to call back to earth the spirit of the departed soldier sleeping for so long beneath the sod, and oblivious now to the honors he so justly deserved.

The sweet spring zephyrs wafting the fragrance of the swelling buds and tender blossoms, bespeaking the coming of nature's loveliness together with the balmy air, brought to the mind a vision of a lad over a century ago in the spring-time of life while just bursting into the bloom of his young manhood, answered the call of patriotism and enlisted in the Continental Army as a carpenter and was willing to lay down his life, if necessary, to secure American Independence and the right of liberty, as was that other "Carpenter" who suffered Calvary to give to the world eternal life.

Achilles Rogers lived to be 93 years of age and in 1854 when this country was undergoing a scourge of cholera he became a victim to its ravages and succumbed in a very few hours. No funeral ceremony or religious rite could be performed under the circumstances and his body was consigned to mother earth without the tender words of eulogy he merited. The beautiful ceremonies thus performed were after all the eulogy and tribute to perpetuate his memory. Mr. Noah Jacobs, a grandson, was unable because of serious illness to be present, but a great number of other descendants were there to honor the soldier's memory.

The monument is a large boulder and near the top is placed the artistic official bronze tablet for a Revolutionary Soldier and bears the emblem of the "Spirit of 1776" the name of Chapter and the D. A. R. insignia, while underneath is carved in two-inch, letters "Achilles Rogers-1776 -1834

Achilles Rogers was born in Albermarle County Virginia, in the year of 1761, and had not reached his majority when in 1781, while his country was engaged in the war of the American Revolution, he was enlisted as a carpenter in the Quartermaster General's Department in the district of Charlottesville, serving from the first day of January to the last day of September 1781.

In his official record of service his name also appears under a similiar heading covering the months of October, November and December, 1781. Again his name appears in a register of certificates issued by Zephania Turner and Andrew Dunscomb, commissioners for settling accounts in State of Virginia, which shows the date of certificate, March 13, 1786, when due, February 1782.

Achilles Rogers was married in 1814, his wife's given name was Eliza, but all trace of her surname has been lost. To this union were born five children:- Eliza married Mr. Burnett, Lucy married Martin Jacobs, Lindsay married Jane Watts and Mary married John Hildebrand. In 1846 Achilles

Rogers came from Indiana where he probably had lived since his marriage, and settled on a farm with his daughter, Maria Jacobs, near Hayesville, Iowa, and here he spent the remainder of his life. He attained the great age of 93 years and in 1854 when this section of the country was undergoing an epidemic of cholera, he was stricken with that dread disease and passed away in a very few hours.

His grandsons, Noah Jacobs, and Martin Singleton, are both living in the community.

This is the history of the life of only one of those brave souls gone before, who having lived enabled us to enjoy the blessings of liberty and freedom they so nobly gave.

How sleep the brave who sink to rest
By all their country's wishes blest;
When spring, with dewy fingers cold,
Returns to deck their hallowed mold,
She there shall dress a sweeter sod
Than fancy's feet have ever trod.

By fairy hands their knell is rung;
By forms unseen their dirge is sung;
Their Honor comes a pilgrim gray
To bless the turf that wraps their clay;
And Freedom shall awhile repair
To dwell a weeping hermit there.

JAMES McELWEE CHAPTER D. A. R. , SIGOURNEY, IOWA, PLACE BRONZE TABLET AT GRAVE OF
JOANNA MATTHEWS BOND,
REAL DAUGHTER.

James McElwee Chapter D.A.R., Sigourney, Iowa, paid tribute to the Revolutionary Soldier, James Matthew, by placing a Real Daughter's Bronze Tablet at the grave of his daughter, Joanna Matthews Bond, who is buried in the Old Methodist Cemetery, Richland, Iowa.

This is the fourth Real Daughter's grave that this Chapter has marked within the past year; in addition to marking the grave of Achilles Rogers, the only Revolutionary Soldier buried in Keokuk County.

The Committee in charge of this work was:-

Mrs. Eugene Schipfer, Regent, Mrs. Wilson H. Hamilton, State Historian and Mrs. Virginia McElwee Goeldner, Honorary Organizing Regent.

JOANNA MATTHEWS BOND.

Joanna Matthews Bond was born in North Carolina, February 2, 1742. She was the daughter of James Matthew and Susanna Lathland Matthews. JAMES MATTHEWS and his two brothers, John and George, were Regulators in North Carolina in 1762. These Regulators were "A company of Militia required to be organized to put down Peasant Revolt against Authority. Later these three brothers were soldiers in the Revolutionary War. James was a private in Donohos Company and John and Geo. were in Capt. Dixon Company.

Susanna Lathland Matthews was born in 1752. She was married to James Matthews in 1769 and during the war she used her home as a hospital and nursed and cared for the wounded soldiers by scraping linen and packing their wounds with the lint, called linsey. She and her sisters, with the help of an old man, buried thirty soldiers in one grave. The battle was fought at Linley Mills in North Carolina.

James and Susanna Matthews were members of the Quaker Church at Deep River. They were the parents of nine children and Joanna was the oldest. She married Samuel Bond and to this union were born five children. Joanna was left a widow when quite young and had the entire care of her family of little children. She was a good upright Christian and every one who knew her loved and respected her, and she was known to them as Grannie Bond.

She raised not only her own children, but her grand-children, as well, and every orphan in that part of the country had a home with her. She was a woman of high principles and good judgment and she was firm in her decisions.

Her two sons, William and Henry Bond, were soldiers in the Civil War and Henry was killed in battle. One grandson, Ashbury Bond, was a soldier in the Spanish-American War and the following great great grandsons were soldiers in the World War:- Willard Stalker, William Bond, and Wilford Kracht, and Pat Rickard. One great great grandson, Gus Bond, is in the Standing Army.

Joanna Matthews Bond was the aunt of Lieutenant Colonel Matthews who is now stationed at Washington, D.C. and Capt. Calvin Matthews, who died in China during the Uprising there. He and his Company were instrumental in saving the lives of 20 Missionaries.

If Joanna Matthews Bond were alive today, she would be proud of her patriotic descendants.

James Matthews was born in 1750, died in 1802. His wife, Susanna Lathland Matthews, was born in 1752, died in 1842.

Joanna Matthews Bond was born Feb. 22, 1792, died March 29, 1876

Her husband, Samuel Bond, was born Sept. 15, 1785, died Oct. 24, 1826

This biography was written by Mrs. Bessie Kracht, who is a great grand-daughter of Joanna Matthews Bond, and a member of James McElwee Chapter D. A. R. Sigourney, Iowa.

THIS IS AN EXACT COPY OF A LETTER BY STEPHEN MATTHEWS IN 1876

Unitia, Tennessee

April 28, 1876

William Bond,

Richland, Iowa.

Dear Cousin, Your letter of the 3rd to my father Harlan Matthews giving the death of your mother on the 29 of March did not reach us until after the death of Father. He died on the morning of April 5th rather unexpectedly to all of us. He had been complaining for some days but not confined to his bed one hour before he died, never complained of anything but weakness. I was with him in his last hour-never saw any one pass off as quiet peaceable in my life. You say that your mother never received any answer to the last letter she sent. I regret that it was not answered. I knew he thought it had been answered: he gave me the letter to read - Said he wanted all the connection to read it, he generally got me to write his letters, but did not request me to answer that one, and I thought he had got some one else to answer it. Elizabeth Wayman died on the 3 day of April, and was buried at the Hickory Valley Meeting house the first grave in that grave yard. It is where your old Barn stood on the hill to

My Father had been speaking of going to see you for several years. I thought was going last spring, but gave it up, did not think he was able to stand the trip. I am glad to hear from you hope you are doing well.

I often think of you and the pleasant days we spent together when I was quite a child. I often look at the places along the dry creek where we spent hours making dams of weeds and mud to ketch fish. Late - I am liveing in Unitia, my oldest child Robert is 21 years old this spring - my youngest child is going on 12 - when I look at them it makes me feel like I was getting old.

My brother Joseph lives at the old home, his wife died last winter leaving him with five children all small. Sister Lidda is living with him. James lives in the Valley near the Clay Pond. Loucinda Donaldson is still liveing hear. Donaldson is selling goods and will as long as he lives. He has got to looking very old. My sister Sarah lives on fork creek in Monroe County.

I am glad to say that the family of all my Brothers and sisters are doing well in points of property have all beat me. I spent about 10 years in polaticks surved 4 years in the State Legislation, did not make much money. I never ingaged in the stealing buisness. I never played Rdknafs,

It is mortifying to me that so many of our leading men have been so corrupt, but the great principles of the Republican party must be given up because some of its officers are corrupt, notwithstanding I have passed through the most exciting times in the history of this Nation. I still feel like a honest man and am now farming. I have a licent to practice law but do not follow it for a living, my friends speak of running me for Congress this summer but this is the only district that send a Republican and many will be the aspirants to that Honorable seat. I will not take the race unless I get open field against the Nominee of the Democratic party. If I get that I will go to Washington.

Well I was out at John D. Jones yesterday he is putting up a new kitchen, his last wife and him is getting along well. Truly they are both one. I think a heap of John D. he is a good fellow and the oldest fashioned Quaker in the Valley. The Friends have the largest Church at Friendsville in the county and a good school. Unitia is now in Loudon County a new county was formed out of Blount County and Monroe, called Loudon. Loudon is the name of the county town, it is located at the place you knew as Blairs ferry where the Rail Road crosses the river, everthing is plenty here and cheap, crops up. My boys tned the farm I help them when I feel like it. I have learned them how to work. My wife and Daughters do all the house and kitchen work. We make and eat our own meat and bread. I would like for you to come out and see us all - it has been a long time since I heard from you, before receiving the letter that I have now tried to answer hoping that I may hear from you again soon.

I remain your cousin

Stephen Matthews.

Washington Co-town of Washington

July 21, 1846.

Dear Son and Daughter - I received yours the first of the present month.

We all were tolerable when your letter came to hand - I was sorry to hear that Mary was so ill - much disappointed that you did not get out this spring and more when Mary is fearful that she ever will see us or Iowa at all. William was here last Sunday - he lives about 16 miles from town with a man by the name of Stewart, a class leader - Ellen and myself was at camp meeting the 21st of last month. We had quite a good time and much larger collection of people than I expected to see and 7 or 8 preachers.

I should have been glad if you could have come this Spring - I kept a house until I thought you was not coming. Mrs. Fleming informed you that your mother was coming this Fall - I never said any such thing as I remember of - further you heard that Ellen was going to marry - but it all came seconded handed.

You wrote to me that you was afraid you would be too late to raise a crop and you wanted to know of me if you could get work here - I wrote to you if you came that I would give you work in the shop - but you have not got here. Our place is improving more than it has done since I have been here - There will be about 18 or twenty buildings put up this season - Lumber is hard to get. The high waters in the spring washed away several of the mill dams.

We are building quite a fine Court House here - with a cupola of brick - Also a Tavern standing on the square of brick - balance of the buildings are frame for the stores and dwellings - Our corn crops look fine. We had some roasting ears last week and we will have some more today - Our fall wheat is quite poorly here in this territory some places it is good. Our Spring wheat will be tolerable - flour is worth $1.50 to $1.75 - Bacon is only worth 5 cents and last year it was hard to get at any price - We had a black-berry pie yesterday and today - next week they will be in full bloom. A plenty of plums & crab-apples - we have to depend on wild fruit mostly - Our garden is good all but our cucumbers don't appear to get a strong hold.

Corn is 15 to 18 cents a bushel - We had a dish of tomatoes yesterday for dinner - Your mother and Ellen have not enjoyed as good health as they did last season - the children are all well. Mr. Lee and wife - Aunt Polly Williams, the widow Stone and her daughter and one of our preachers and wife took ^{tea} with us. We had corn and black berry pie for supper - and 2 chickens with plenty of soup around - then corn cake and biscuit and lasses with them.

3 - July 21, 1846

We have one of the best cows - we make all our own butter.

The above names I wrote all move in the first circles of society - I cannot think of much more nonsense-

I will look for you this fall or spring at the furtherest - Got a letter from Martha she was well - I received it two weeks before I did yours - the child was well also- She did not say any thing about the friends - I will close by sending all our best love to you both and the children- I ever remain your olving father untill death parts etc.

Dear Son and Daughter -

After waiting awhile to hear from you, I now take my pen to inform you that we all enjoy tolerable health. William has had a spell of the feaver but is getting about. Sarah has been sick but is on the mend. All the rest is well. We have all been much blessest in the health way - There has been a good deal of sickness in the Territory - but it is so everywhere I have heard from, even in your parts, but few deaths - from fever and ague - Williams family have all been sick but are on the mend but Aunt Polly still keeps poorly - I hope that when this comes to your hands it may find you all enjoying good health - I now will inform you of all the news in general - First our crops are fine - wheat oats and corn - fall wheat is 40 to 45 cents - spring wheat from 25 to 30 cents - corn 12 1/2 at the store - pork is thought will be from 3 to 3_50 per hundred - beef is selling at $2. to 2.50 it is quite dry - the first flour is selling from $1.50 to 2. Butter is selling at 10 cents - eggs 4 cents - Sugar 9lb. for a dollar - Coffee the same. Your mother and Ellen has as much wool as they could spin- Your mother and Will went to the weavers last week - they have from 49 to 50 yds of flannel we will get home in the course of two or three weeks - also about 25 to thirty yards of Jeans for me and Will and Dick and when we get both pieces home, I hope we can keep warm.

I now will give you a list of our garden productions - first a plenty of peas, - second a large supply of cucumbers - we have a barrel of pickles - and the best cabbage you ever saw forty two heads - made a barrel of kraut - made it this week and next week we intend to make up our pumpkin butter - we hurried a reddish that weighed 14 lbs. and measured around 32 inches - and turnips that will weigh from 4 to 12 lbs. I rented 75 yards square close to town for a truck patch - we planted about $2/3$ of it in corn and beans and pumpkins the other part we planted in potatoes and mellons and we had as many as we could destroy until the middle of September - We had at times as many musk melons in the house as 15 to 20 of the best - had about 25 bu. of potatoes and 3 wagon loads of pumpkins and 3 of corn. Dick raised about 2 bu. of pop corn.

We will have a general wolf hunt about the 10th of the month - the whole country is to meet about 4 miles from town - it will be a great time I expect.

3 - October 27th 1845

Please when you write let us know if you had any fruit last year. - if so please to bring as much with you as you can. Also if you can barter things bring as much as you can and if you will be able bring a good two horse wagon. You did not say any thing about your young ones - Please let us know if you have heard from Martha and if she intends to come with you and all about her in your next letter - also please to write just about what time you intend to leave there so that I may look for you. Please also if you should stop at Cincinnati, any time you can get me a barrel of dried apples - they sell here at $2.25 per bushel. If you have money you can spare at this price, you can sell them here for cash.

Please to see Carpenter and tell him I want him to send me some money - he may share it at 15 or 20 per cent. Show him this letter and let him know we are all well. I have been looking for a letter from him.

Best love to all the family - old and young black and white. Also Doctor Griver - Campbells, Flemings and all others that may ask for us - your Father's family in particular. He would do well here I think he could rent for one third of the grain.

4 October 27th 1845

Little Emily Fleming is one year old today. She has a very mouth - Ferdinand has got quite hearty - Hester is talking about her nease - Every day Lucy has grown very much and Dick also - and Sarah is about as large as Mary and William has grown more than you would think - Ellen is the largest of the family - Your mother is not quite as fat as she was in Kentucky but enjoys good health, as for myself I am about the same but still getting older as you all know - fine neighbors all around - good society here. Lucy has gone to school all this summer. I will send Dick this winter. I will close by sending my best love and compliments to you all until I see you or hear by letter from you.

January 1, 1926

These letters were written by my Great-grandfather, Wm. Walker, in the years 1845 - 46.

He left Mayslick County, Kentucky, in 1843, and settled in Washington County, near the town of Washington, in the Territory of Iowa.

His daughter, Martha Walker White, was my Grandmother, and her daughter, Anna Eliza White Jones, was my mother.

OLD BURYING GROUND OF 1837,

DES MOINES COUNTY, IOWA.

One of the old burying grounds of Des Moines County, if not the oldest, now called Hawkeye Cemetery, one half mile north of Huron Church, is on the farm of Mrs. Minnie Swank, whose husband's mother, Mrs. Henrietta Hilleary Swank, came there as a bride in 1833.

Des Moines County was then a part of the Territory of Michigan and the laws had not been fully enforced on the west side of the Mississippi River, so Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Swank were married under a tree on the Illinois shore.

They were true pioneers when they settled on this place in 1833. The prairies were covered with grass, the timber was uncut, wild game was very numerous and wolves were often howling at night and bands of Indians were frequently seen. The roads were only buffalo trails or paths lined with weeds and brush. Here on the bluff just back of their home, is the cemetery where many of the old pioneers are buried.

Among these are two little children of Mr. and Mrs. Swank:- America Swank, born Nov. 22, 1835 and died July 19, 1837 and Jacob Henry Swank, born Sept. 12, 1837 and died Sept. 3, 1847:- three children of Nathan and Catherine McKee Westfall, who were the first couple married in Huron

Township, Jacob Westfall Jr. was the first child born in Yellow Springs in 1834; a number of the family are buried there.

Reuben Westfall, a pioneer, was born in 1779 and died Jan. 22, 1859. He is buried on the hill overlooking the Mississippi Valley. The old headstone leans, tall grass swaying about it. It bears this Beautiful Epitaph:

"Hear what the voice from Heaven proclaims
For all the pious dead,
Sweet is the Saviour of their names
And soft their sleeping bed.

BOGARDUS ESTATE

In the year 1630 when Peter Minuette was Govenor of New Netherlands, there landed at New Amsterdam a sturdy Dutchman, named Racliff Janson. He was a man of good position and of official standing in his native town of Massland. Racliff Janson, with his young wife and little family, traveled the seas and sailed for the New Netherlands.

He was superintendent at Rensselaewyck, the great territory granted to Killwin Van Rensselaer, the diamond merchant of Amsterdam. Janson's name was perpetuated there in that of the Kill or small river called "Racliff Janson Kill", which runs into the Hudson between Red Hook and the present city of Hudson.

After a few years he moved with his family to New Amsterdam, having obtained from Wouter Van Triller, in 1636 a patent for a farm of 62 acresm which for 200 years has been a bone of contention. He did not long enjoy his new possession for he died in 1637 or 1638. He left five children and a wife who was known as Mrs. Annetge or Anneka Jans. The year after his death she became the wife of one of the most prominent and remarkable characters in the early history of New York City, Rev. Evardus Bogardus. Before her second marriage, she made a proper settlement of her former husband's estate.

She settled 1000 quilters among her children and the settlement thus being made, she and E. Bogardus promised to bring up the children with the help of God, decently provide for them, keep them in school, etc. The contract was witnessed by Gov. Kieft Cornelius Van Tuirhoven, Councilor De La Montague, the most distinguished men of the Colony.

Domine Ewardus Bogardus came from Holland in the year 1633, with Wouter Van Triller, who succeeded Gov. Kieft. He was a man of education and of great intellect and was of a very determined and independent disposition. His position was important and distinguished, for he held his trust directly from Holland officers.

The primitive Church building was a plain barn-like structure on the river side on what is now known as Pearl, between Whitehall and Broad Streets. There he preached the Reformed Theological Views promulgated at the Synod of Dort, until on account of the building being exposed to the attacks of the Indians, a more commodious structure was erected in the fort enclosure in the year 1642. This Church was built of stone, 53 ft. in breadth and 72 ft. in length, and was erected by John and Richard Ogden.

The Domine met with a sad ending for he was drowned off the coast of Wales as he was on his way to Holland, 1647,

He was sent to complain against Gov. Kieft who was cruel to the Indians, and was aboard the ship, Princess when it was wrecked.

After his death Anneka left New Amsterdam and moved to her old friends on the Hudson; she owned her farm, two houses and many acres near the present village of Newton on Long Island, 80 acres granted her in 1654, near Hillgate, and lands at Eererwyck. She lived several years at Albany and died in 1663, thirty years after her arrival at the Province.

Her will was made at Albany, before two friends, Rutger Van Schooderwert and Evertt Wendall and the notary, Dirk Van SchuellaWyne, as she was in her last sickness. She was in full possession of her mental faculties and she commended her soul to Almighty God, her Creator and Redeemer. She was buried in the churchyard of the old Dutch Church on Hudson St. Albany.

She had four children by her first husband; Sarah Sytie, Catherine and Jan. Jan was killed at the Schenectady Massacre, 1690.

Children by second husband were:-Johannas, William Cornelius and Peter.

Sarah married Hans. Kierstead, a surgeon.

By the provision of the will, 10000 quilders were divided among the Janson children: To Johannas and Peter

BOGARDUS ESTATE (Concluded)

Bogardus, a house and a lot each in Albany. She gave her grandchildren, Racliff Kiestead, Ametye Van Brough, Rachel Harges and Sytie Bogardus, a silver mug each. As to the rest of her property, the children and descendants were to share alike. The farm was granted to Racliff Janson and it was in a very rough state and had never been cultivated. It was confirmed in 1654 by Stuyvessant, then Governor.

Adau Vrooman was great-great-grand-daughter of Anneka and Racliff Janson.

HISTORY AND GENEALOGY OF WOODBURY COUNTY

Pioneers are born, not made. Not every man or woman has the sterling qualities of the pioneer; not every nation can produce them.

The Anglo-Saxon race is pre-eminently a race of pioneers. But few decades ago and the Indian tribes held this goodly heritage as a hunting-ground, but some one must be the first to look upon this fair domain with the view of setting up a Christian Civilization.

In 1804 the famous Clark and Lewis Expedition was sent out and passed up the Big Muddy (Missouri River) to its head waters. August 20th of the same year, one of their number, Sergeant Floyd died and was buried on the bluffs now bearing his name. Finally the river washed in upon his narrow resting place and the remains of the early explorer were deposited back from the river where they still repose and are now marked by what we call the Floyd Monument. Both Sergeants Bluff and the Floyd River take their names from him.

In 1839 about one hundred men trappers and explorers left St. Louis on the Steamer (Antelope) for regions of the Upper Missouri, where they were engaged with the American Fur Company. Some of these men remained there while others found their way back to civilization, and a portion of the party located in the part of the country which was afterwards Woodbury County.

Among the first settlers were Joseph Leonais, Albert Peltier, Paul Pacquette, John La Plant, George L. Tacket, Mr. La Blance, Gustave Pecaut.

Johnnie Brassos (colored) whom many of the early settlers remember as the violinist, came up the Missouri River and located ---- near the Missouri River. This colored man always affirmed that he was the first white child to locate in this county.

William Thompson and an older brother named Charles, and one other man whose name was forgotten, were the only white men who spent the winter of 1848-49 in this locality. In 1849 Theophile Brugnier, a native of Canada, but of French descent, settled at the mouth of the Big Sioux River about two miles above Sioux City. He married a daughter of the celebrated Chieftain, War Eagle. Brugnier became a prominent man in the tribe, and War Eagle, his father-in-law, died at his house 1851. His remains with those of Brugnier's wife and two daughters now repose on the summit of a lofty bluff at the mouth of the Big Sioux. The War Eagle Tribe which form the War Eagle Association, marked and fenced the grove. Sometime during the autumn of 1849, Robert Perry, a somewhat eccentric character, but a man of fine education, came from Washington, D. C. and made a settlement on the creek now bearing his name. Woodbury County was organized in 1853. The local government was vested in what was termed "the County Court" which consisted of a County Judge, the District Court and the Sheriff. The Judicial records of Woodbury County verify the claim that the Anglo-Saxon race carries its institutions wherever it locates. Tribunals of Justice were opened and men who for a quarter of a century had relied upon the revolver and knife for the assertions of their rights, gladly submitted their affairs to the arbitrament of law.

The early records of Woodbury County are filled with the names of those who formed the connecting link between civilization and barbarism. Until 1857 Woodbury County was a part of the Seventh Judicial District.
